MICELLAR TECHNOLOGY FOR POST-ETCH RESIDUES

ABSTRACT

A method is provided herein for cleaning a semiconductor device. In accordance with the method, a semiconductor device is provided (11), and a micellar solution is applied (13) to the semiconductor device. The method is particularly useful for cleaning copper and silicon surfaces and removing processing residues from the surfaces of vias or trenches.